Description

The Siemens 6ES5455-4UA12 is a digital output module from the SIMATIC S5 series, designed for precise control in industrial automation systems. This compact module features 16 outputs and supports a voltage range of 24/48/60V AC with a current rating of 2A per output. Its robust design ensures reliable performance across various industrial applications. Manufactured in Germany, it reflects Siemens' commitment to high-quality engineering and manufacturing standards. Although production of the 6ES5455-4UA12 concluded on October 1, 2010, the module remains repairable, offering a cost-effective solution for maintaining existing systems. Repair services are available through authorized distributors, ensuring continued operation despite its discontinued status.
