Description

The Siemens 6ES7614-1AH02-0AB3 is a CPU 614 processor module designed for the SIMATIC S7-300 automation system. Manufactured by Siemens, this module offers a robust solution for industrial automation applications requiring reliable and efficient control. Key features include a program capacity of 128 kB, ensuring sufficient memory for complex control tasks. The module's compact dimensions of 120 mm in height, 125 mm in length, and 80 mm in width, with a weight of 0.48 kg, facilitate easy integration into existing systems. Its design is tailored for demanding industrial environments, providing durability and consistent performance. This CPU 614 processor is ideal for applications such as process control, machinery management, and building automation systems, where high performance and reliability are essential.
