Description

The Siemens 6ES5256-3AB11 is an AS 256 Interface Module designed for the SIMATIC S5-135/155 series PLCs. Manufactured by Siemens, this module facilitates seamless communication within industrial automation systems, ensuring efficient data exchange and control processes. It is specifically engineered for the German market, as indicated by the 'German' designation in its part number. Key features include its compact dimensions of 200 mm in height, 250 mm in length, and 30 mm in width, with a weight of 0.46 kg, making it suitable for integration into space-constrained environments. Despite its discontinuation in October 2004, the 6ES5256-3AB11 remains a vital component for existing systems, offering repairability to extend its operational lifespan. This module is ideal for applications requiring reliable and efficient communication within the SIMATIC S5-135/155 PLC systems.
